The 1967 El Camino followed the Chevelle's styling facelift with a new grille, front bumper, and trim. Air shocks remained standard equipment on the El Camino, allowing the driver to compensate for a load. The 1967 model year also brought the collapsible steering column and options of disc brakes and Turbo Hydramatic 400 3-speed automatic transmission. It was the second year the 396 (L35, L34 ...

~~1968 - 1969 El Camino Windshield Glass Without Antenna~~

The El Camino had received a significant restyle in 1968 when the third generation of the car was introduced – so very little was changed for the 1969 model, and the year was largely a carryover year. A new grille, front bumper and rear backup lights were introduced, but were still relatively similar to the models of the year before. Since the El Camino was reintroduced for its second ...
